

SATURDAY, OCT. 11, 3 A.M.

Departure of Trains.

Louisville, New Albany, and Cincinnati, 5:30 A.M., Chicago Express..... 5:30 A.M.
Louisville Night Express..... 5:30 A.M.
Louisville, Frankfort, and Lexington, 5:30 A.M.
Express..... 5:30 A.M.
Louisville and Nashville Railroad..... 5:30 A.M.
Pittsburgh Train..... 5:30 A.M.
Lexington Train..... 5:30 A.M.
Jeffersonville Railroad..... 5:30 A.M.
Cincinnati Express..... 5:30 P.M.
St. Louis Express..... 5:30 P.M.
Louisville and Nashville Railroad..... 5:30 P.M.
Jeffersonville Railroad..... 5:30 P.M.

Instructions to Officers—First and Fourth Posts.

Instructions to Officers—First and Fourth Posts.—For the Name of Retired or the Retired Army in Virginia—Police Proceedings—A Report—Question Solved—Carry a Party—Condition of Affairs in Seven-as—The Attack on Forts—Official Report of General Strong—Expedition to Seven County—Seven from the Southern Episcopal Church—Front for the Sabbath—The Situation in Arkansas—The Death of U.S. Troops—The Law of Kissing—The Condition of Affairs at Richmond—Marshall—Escape from Death in Battle—A Great Gun—Telegraphic News—Item.

CARRIERS.—If any of our Union friends are in want of cartridges for the rifle, they can be supplied at the Journal office.

TRANSPORTATION FOR THE WOUNDED.—Gen.
Boyle issues an important special order, commanding all furniture wagons, spring-wagons, and other vehicles suitable for the purpose, to be reported to Dr. Head, at headquarters, that they may be sent to the army to be used in transporting the sick and wounded from Perryville.

The Situation in Kentucky.

The battle on Wednesday commenced on the farm of Jacob Peters', near Perryville, and was supported entirely on our side by M.
Cook's corps. Gen. Crittenden did not reach the scene of engagement to participate, and Gen.
Wood's division arrived about a half hour before dark. The rebels were driven back in the direction of Harroldson, where Col. Buell had them hemmed in on Thursday evening with Kirby Smith's forces entirely cut off from the rebel army. Gen. Buell occupied most advantageous positions on the side of the enemy, and our troops were in high spirits and confident of victory. A large loss on our side was suffered, and it is estimated that the loss of the rebels was much greater. We are without any details of Thursday's battle, if, indeed, any occurred, and therefore, give no credence to rumors that are flying about. There are various reports of portions of our baggage trains having been captured, but we cannot trace them to any reliable source. Those who know Gen. Buell are aware that he promises nothing but ascertained results, and leaves everybody in the dark as to his strategic movements. To this we attribute our paucity of information, and the very mystery of his movements asssured us that all is safe.

Col. Jacob, of the Ninth Kentucky cavalry, was slightly wounded in the breast on Wednesday night, near Lawrenceburg. His wounds were dressed on the ground, and he was led through his regimen on Thursday morning leading an advance movement.

The position of Gen. Sill's command and that of Kirby Smith are not exactly ascertained, but we have no idea that the former can be in any disadvantageous location, as the commanding officer has the power to be master of his situation. We await the entire result with the same feeling that we have watched the approach of a thunder-storm; the crash will soon reach us, but we have the most confident expectations that victory will perch upon the eagles of the Union. General Buell's movements are of such a character that he cannot be surprised or outnumbered, and we hope in our next issue to be able to record an overwhelming victory for him.

CITIZENS' MEETING.—Notwithstanding the exceedingly inclement weather there was a very fair attendance of loyal citizens at the court-house last evening for the purpose of taking steps for the relief of the wounded in the battle of Perryville. Its Honor Mayor Delph was called to the chair, and Judge
Ballard was appointed Secretary.

The Rev. J. H. Heywood, on the part of the Sanitary Commission, made a general statement as to the operations of the organization, and was followed by James Speed, Esq., who gathered from Mr. Spee's remarks that there is at present in the hands of the Sanitary Commission the sum of five thousand dollars unappropriated.

A committee, consisting of Messrs. James Speed, Geo. W. Anderson, Jas. Malone, Z. M.
Shirley, Peter B. Blair, and Mayor Delph, was appointed, with power to add to their numbers, charged with the duty of conferring with the Sanitary Commission to determine upon the best means to be adopted to relieve the sufferers in the late battle.

The meeting then adjourned, the committee returning to the office of James Speed, Esq., where they held a conference with the representative members of the Sanitary Commission.

After a conference with the Sanitary Commission, the committee appointed at the meeting last evening earnestly request the citizens to send to the Sanitary rooms, on the east side of Fifth street, between Main and Market streets, a supply of the following articles, to be forwarded to the battle-field for the sick and wounded: Shirts and drawers, woolen socks, soft pillows, pads for wounded men, cans of fruit, dried fruit, wines, lemons, good tea, jelly, cayenne, the bandages for broken collar bones, grapes, apples and other ripe fruit, crushed sugar, onions, oysters, Irish potatoes, beets, and other vegetables. It is desired that the articles should be sent to the rooms as rapidly as possible. The canner fruit should be labeled.

The committee appointed Stephen Ormsby, Abraham Blankenship, Isaac Everett, Andrew Hikes, Dr. Warwick Miller, and Paul Vilier, of the county, to solicit and receive contributions for the Sanitary Commission from the citizens of the county.

THE FIRST DAY'S FIGHT AT PERRYVILLE.— As the details of the impetuous attack of the rebels upon our troops at Perryville, on Wednesday, and the noble resistance made by the divisions of Gen. Rousseau and Gen. Jackson, under Maj. Gen. McCook, come to hand, we are inclined to believe that it was among the most brilliant affairs of the war. McCook, with his two divisions, withstood the combined assault of two rebel army corps under Harral and Polk, and there was very hard fighting done. Rousseau's division covered itself with fresh laurels and contested every inch manfully. Unfortunately, Gen. Jackson was killed within five minutes of the first attack, and his full prologue some confusion among his raw troops, but the One hundred and Fifth Ohio, Ninety-eighth Ohio, and Eightieth Illinois encircled themselves with veteran coolness. The "fighting McCooks"— the General, Dan, and John—all escaped unharmed. Capt. Bonnefond, of Gen. McCook's staff, was wounded, but Jas. P. Collier, W. L.
Hobart, and the rest of his military family are safe.

Colonel William H. Lytle, of the 10th Ohio, who was acting Brigadier-General, is reported as killed at Perryville. A despatch from Lieutenant-Colonel Joseph W. Burke, of his regiment, dated Thursday at 1 o'clock, says he was wounded and a prisoner, and that the loss of the regiment was 258. We sincerely trust that this accomplished officer may have been spared his country.

COL. CURRY POPE.—We have seen a letter from Capt. Forman, of the Fifteenth Kentucky, written on Thursday, which says "Col. Pope is safe, and in command of the Seventeenth Brigade." We infer from this, as from other sources of information, that Col. P. is wounded at all, was so slightly hurt as not to disable him.

COL. JOUETT.—It is with the deepest sorrow that we announce the death of this able and gallant officer. Kentucky will mourn him as one of the most brilliant and promising of the soldiers she has given to the service of the country. We hope to be able in a few days to notice at length the career of this dead hero.

THE PERRYVILLE FIGHT.

The Rebels Driven Eight Miles:
They are in Buell's Trap!

Heavy Losses Reported!

Gens. Jas. S. Jackson, Wm. R. Terrill, and Webster (of Ohio), Killed!

Lieut. Col. Jouett and Maj. Campbell, of the 15th Kentucky, Killed!

General Rousseau and Colonel C. Pope Wounded!

HEADQUARTERS KENTUCKY STATE GUARDS,
CITY OF LOUISVILLE, KY., DECEMBER 10, 1862.

INSTRUCTIONS TO CAPTAINS OF REGIMENTS:

GENERAL.—You are requested to—

1. Attend to your regiments;—

2. Report to Dr. Head, at headquarters;

3. Accommodation.

4. Payroll.

5. Accoutrements.

6. Clothing.

7. Equipment.

8. Hospital.

9. Payroll.

10. Accoutrements.

11. Clothing.

12. Equipment.

13. Hospital.

14. Payroll.

15. Accoutrements.

16. Clothing.

17. Equipment.

18. Hospital.

19. Payroll.

20. Accoutrements.

21. Clothing.

22. Equipment.

23. Hospital.

24. Payroll.

25. Accoutrements.

26. Clothing.

27. Equipment.

28. Hospital.

29. Payroll.

30. Accoutrements.

31. Clothing.

32. Equipment.

33. Hospital.

34. Payroll.

35. Accoutrements.

36. Clothing.

37. Equipment.

38. Hospital.

39. Payroll.

40. Accoutrements.

41. Clothing.

42. Equipment.

43. Hospital.

44. Payroll.

45. Accoutrements.

46. Clothing.

47. Equipment.

48. Hospital.

49. Payroll.

50. Accoutrements.

51. Clothing.

52. Equipment.

53. Hospital.

54. Payroll.

55. Accoutrements.

56. Clothing.

57. Equipment.

58. Hospital.

59. Payroll.

60. Accoutrements.

61. Clothing.

62. Equipment.

63. Hospital.

64. Payroll.

65. Accoutrements.

66. Clothing.

67. Equipment.

68. Hospital.

69. Payroll.

70. Accoutrements.

71. Clothing.

72. Equipment.

73. Hospital.

74. Payroll.

75. Accoutrements.

76. Clothing.

77. Equipment.

78. Hospital.

79. Payroll.

80. Accoutrements.

81. Clothing.

82. Equipment.

83. Hospital.

84. Payroll.

85. Accoutrements.

86. Clothing.

87. Equipment.

88. Hospital.

89. Payroll.

90. Accoutrements.

91. Clothing.

92. Equipment.

93. Hospital.

94. Payroll.

95. Accoutrements.

96. Clothing.

97. Equipment.

98. Hospital.

99. Payroll.

100. Accoutrements.

101. Clothing.

102. Equipment.

103. Hospital.

104. Payroll.

105. Accoutrements.

106. Clothing.

107. Equipment.

108. Hospital.

109. Payroll.

110. Accoutrements.

111. Clothing.

112. Equipment.

113. Hospital.

114. Payroll.

115. Accoutrements.

116. Clothing.</

LOUISVILLE JOURNAL

THE CONDITIONS OF AFFAIRS AT RICHMOND.—Among the recent applicants for admission into Col. Leggett's regiment of Pennsylvania volunteers was a man who wished to enlist for the war, and fight for the North, if he could have twenty years. He was a foreigner, and I had received from Richmond typhus of forged passes. He gives the following information respecting affairs in that city:

The Southern Confederacy is almost "used up." The government has no reserves to fall back upon, very few indeed, and is very short of provisions of all kinds. He says the retreat from Yorktown has been followed by half rations; that there is a great scarcity of food in Richmond, nothing to be had except at high prices, and that men have been exacting all summer, but the health of the city has been good for some months past. After the seven days fight Richmond was surrounded with wounded soldiers, every available place to private houses, being filled by them.

NEWS FROM THE SCOTTISH EPISCOPAL CHURCH.—The Edinburgh Court of Session has decided that it is thought that the new code of canons which is in preparation for the Scottish Episcopal Church may be the means of breaking that communion. A large body of the clergy in Italy, it is reported, intend to sever their relations with the Church of England if any other ritual than that of the Prayer Book is adopted.

THE GOVERNOR OF OHIO HAS ORDERED THAT THE MINISTERS OF THE GOSPEL IN CHARGE OF REGULAR CONGREGATIONS SHALL NOT EXCEPT FROM DRAFT.

INQUIRY FOR THE SOLDIERS.—In view of the vast number of sick and wounded soldiers now lying in our military hospitals, the loyal people of the Union are called upon to render all the aid they can to the Sanitary Commission, in ameliorating the condition of those who are suffering from wounds received or disease contracted in fighting for the old flag. Mothers, wives, and sisters of the loyal State, you are called upon to contribute your share toward the suppression of the rebellion. The supply of fruit that fall in ample, and large quantities of it should be dried and canned, and deposited with any of the various relief societies throughout the State. The following appeal has been issued from the office of the Sanitary Commission at Washington:

"We inquire of the friends of the rebellion whether the use of the wounded, to receive apples for the use of the wounded, it should immediately be supplied, as widely as possible, that dried apples cannot be easily sent from the South, and that the rebels do not allow any fruit to be sent to them."

MARVELOUS ESCAPE FROM DEATH IN PARADE.—The London Evening Corrector misinterpreted in regard to Major General Pender, relating to the following story of another Pender, who was also a Warrington:

Captain Pender of the Twelfth Regiment, was shot through the shoulder, and his sword broken, during a skirmish with the rebels, and was captured by the rebels, but he escaped, and made his way to the rear of the battle-field, and got into a boat, and so got away.

No war vessels were at present building at Richmond, with the exception of the Merrimac, &c., which were completed an armament of heavy artillery. She is 110 feet in length, her smoke stack is movable, and she has an iron prowl at each end. They now lay down the keel of another war vessel.

It is not known what her capacity or tonnage will be.

Captain Posonby of the Twelfth Regiment, was shot through the shoulder, and his sword broken, during a skirmish with the rebels, and was captured by the rebels, but he escaped, and made his way to the rear of the battle-field, and got into a boat, and so got away.

No war vessels were at present building at Richmond, with the exception of the Merrimac, &c., which were completed an armament of heavy artillery. She is 110 feet in length, her smoke stack is movable, and she has an iron prowl at each end. They now lay down the keel of another war vessel.

It is not known what her capacity or tonnage will be.

Captain Posonby of the Twelfth Regiment, was shot through the shoulder, and his sword broken, during a skirmish with the rebels, and was captured by the rebels, but he escaped, and made his way to the rear of the battle-field, and got into a boat, and so got away.

No war vessels were at present building at Richmond, with the exception of the Merrimac, &c., which were completed an armament of heavy artillery. She is 110 feet in length, her smoke stack is movable, and she has an iron prowl at each end. They now lay down the keel of another war vessel.

It is not known what her capacity or tonnage will be.

FRED. LAM (OLMSTED).—General Secretary.

THE SITUATION IN ARKANSAS.—A correspondent of the St. Louis Republican—the Military Secretary of State, we presume, from the intelligence—writing from Helena, is of opinion that the rebels do not contemplate an Invasion of Missouri in force, Arkansas, nor do they intend an attack upon the post at Helena. If they can save their own Capital from the "ruthless treat of the invaders" it is much as they desire, and possibly more than they can accomplish.

The writer gives, in a semi-official way, the statistics of the rebels in the State. He states that the information upon which his figures are based is reliable and late, and believed by the military authorities to be worthy of confidence.

Gen. McCallum, 1,000—peast, five miles north of Little Rock; Gen. Ross, 5,000—peast, fifty miles southeast of Little Rock; at White Sulphur Springs, near Pine Bluff, on the Arkansas river, McCallum's post is Cross Hollows, with a force of consumers estimated at four to five thousand; Gen. Holmes, commanding-in-chief of all the forces, is at Little Rock; Gen. Price, 11,000—peast, at Bentonville, with 2,000, still fortifying Crystal Hill and Arkadelphia—at the latter place the rebels manufacture munitions of war, and have a large quantity of gunpowder, and are believed to be preparing to move westward.

Gen. Price, 1,000—peast, five miles south of Little Rock; Gen. Ross, 5,000—peast, fifty miles southeast of Little Rock; at White Sulphur Springs, near Pine Bluff, on the Arkansas river, McCallum's post is Cross Hollows, with a force of consumers estimated at four to five thousand; Gen. Holmes, commanding-in-chief of all the forces, is at Little Rock; Gen. Price, 11,000—peast, at Bentonville, with 2,000, still fortifying Crystal Hill and Arkadelphia—at the latter place the rebels manufacture munitions of war, and have a large quantity of gunpowder, and are believed to be preparing to move westward.

Gen. Price, 1,000—peast, five miles south of Little Rock; Gen. Ross, 5,000—peast, fifty miles southeast of Little Rock; at White Sulphur Springs, near Pine Bluff, on the Arkansas river, McCallum's post is Cross Hollows, with a force of consumers estimated at four to five thousand; Gen. Holmes, commanding-in-chief of all the forces, is at Little Rock; Gen. Price, 11,000—peast, at Bentonville, with 2,000, still fortifying Crystal Hill and Arkadelphia—at the latter place the rebels manufacture munitions of war, and have a large quantity of gunpowder, and are believed to be preparing to move westward.

Gen. Price, 1,000—peast, five miles south of Little Rock; Gen. Ross, 5,000—peast, fifty miles southeast of Little Rock; at White Sulphur Springs, near Pine Bluff, on the Arkansas river, McCallum's post is Cross Hollows, with a force of consumers estimated at four to five thousand; Gen. Holmes, commanding-in-chief of all the forces, is at Little Rock; Gen. Price, 11,000—peast, at Bentonville, with 2,000, still fortifying Crystal Hill and Arkadelphia—at the latter place the rebels manufacture munitions of war, and have a large quantity of gunpowder, and are believed to be preparing to move westward.

Gen. Price, 1,000—peast, five miles south of Little Rock; Gen. Ross, 5,000—peast, fifty miles southeast of Little Rock; at White Sulphur Springs, near Pine Bluff, on the Arkansas river, McCallum's post is Cross Hollows, with a force of consumers estimated at four to five thousand; Gen. Holmes, commanding-in-chief of all the forces, is at Little Rock; Gen. Price, 11,000—peast, at Bentonville, with 2,000, still fortifying Crystal Hill and Arkadelphia—at the latter place the rebels manufacture munitions of war, and have a large quantity of gunpowder, and are believed to be preparing to move westward.

Gen. Price, 1,000—peast, five miles south of Little Rock; Gen. Ross, 5,000—peast, fifty miles southeast of Little Rock; at White Sulphur Springs, near Pine Bluff, on the Arkansas river, McCallum's post is Cross Hollows, with a force of consumers estimated at four to five thousand; Gen. Holmes, commanding-in-chief of all the forces, is at Little Rock; Gen. Price, 11,000—peast, at Bentonville, with 2,000, still fortifying Crystal Hill and Arkadelphia—at the latter place the rebels manufacture munitions of war, and have a large quantity of gunpowder, and are believed to be preparing to move westward.

Gen. Price, 1,000—peast, five miles south of Little Rock; Gen. Ross, 5,000—peast, fifty miles southeast of Little Rock; at White Sulphur Springs, near Pine Bluff, on the Arkansas river, McCallum's post is Cross Hollows, with a force of consumers estimated at four to five thousand; Gen. Holmes, commanding-in-chief of all the forces, is at Little Rock; Gen. Price, 11,000—peast, at Bentonville, with 2,000, still fortifying Crystal Hill and Arkadelphia—at the latter place the rebels manufacture munitions of war, and have a large quantity of gunpowder, and are believed to be preparing to move westward.

Gen. Price, 1,000—peast, five miles south of Little Rock; Gen. Ross, 5,000—peast, fifty miles southeast of Little Rock; at White Sulphur Springs, near Pine Bluff, on the Arkansas river, McCallum's post is Cross Hollows, with a force of consumers estimated at four to five thousand; Gen. Holmes, commanding-in-chief of all the forces, is at Little Rock; Gen. Price, 11,000—peast, at Bentonville, with 2,000, still fortifying Crystal Hill and Arkadelphia—at the latter place the rebels manufacture munitions of war, and have a large quantity of gunpowder, and are believed to be preparing to move westward.

Gen. Price, 1,000—peast, five miles south of Little Rock; Gen. Ross, 5,000—peast, fifty miles southeast of Little Rock; at White Sulphur Springs, near Pine Bluff, on the Arkansas river, McCallum's post is Cross Hollows, with a force of consumers estimated at four to five thousand; Gen. Holmes, commanding-in-chief of all the forces, is at Little Rock; Gen. Price, 11,000—peast, at Bentonville, with 2,000, still fortifying Crystal Hill and Arkadelphia—at the latter place the rebels manufacture munitions of war, and have a large quantity of gunpowder, and are believed to be preparing to move westward.

Gen. Price, 1,000—peast, five miles south of Little Rock; Gen. Ross, 5,000—peast, fifty miles southeast of Little Rock; at White Sulphur Springs, near Pine Bluff, on the Arkansas river, McCallum's post is Cross Hollows, with a force of consumers estimated at four to five thousand; Gen. Holmes, commanding-in-chief of all the forces, is at Little Rock; Gen. Price, 11,000—peast, at Bentonville, with 2,000, still fortifying Crystal Hill and Arkadelphia—at the latter place the rebels manufacture munitions of war, and have a large quantity of gunpowder, and are believed to be preparing to move westward.

Gen. Price, 1,000—peast, five miles south of Little Rock; Gen. Ross, 5,000—peast, fifty miles southeast of Little Rock; at White Sulphur Springs, near Pine Bluff, on the Arkansas river, McCallum's post is Cross Hollows, with a force of consumers estimated at four to five thousand; Gen. Holmes, commanding-in-chief of all the forces, is at Little Rock; Gen. Price, 11,000—peast, at Bentonville, with 2,000, still fortifying Crystal Hill and Arkadelphia—at the latter place the rebels manufacture munitions of war, and have a large quantity of gunpowder, and are believed to be preparing to move westward.

Gen. Price, 1,000—peast, five miles south of Little Rock; Gen. Ross, 5,000—peast, fifty miles southeast of Little Rock; at White Sulphur Springs, near Pine Bluff, on the Arkansas river, McCallum's post is Cross Hollows, with a force of consumers estimated at four to five thousand; Gen. Holmes, commanding-in-chief of all the forces, is at Little Rock; Gen. Price, 11,000—peast, at Bentonville, with 2,000, still fortifying Crystal Hill and Arkadelphia—at the latter place the rebels manufacture munitions of war, and have a large quantity of gunpowder, and are believed to be preparing to move westward.

Gen. Price, 1,000—peast, five miles south of Little Rock; Gen. Ross, 5,000—peast, fifty miles southeast of Little Rock; at White Sulphur Springs, near Pine Bluff, on the Arkansas river, McCallum's post is Cross Hollows, with a force of consumers estimated at four to five thousand; Gen. Holmes, commanding-in-chief of all the forces, is at Little Rock; Gen. Price, 11,000—peast, at Bentonville, with 2,000, still fortifying Crystal Hill and Arkadelphia—at the latter place the rebels manufacture munitions of war, and have a large quantity of gunpowder, and are believed to be preparing to move westward.

Gen. Price, 1,000—peast, five miles south of Little Rock; Gen. Ross, 5,000—peast, fifty miles southeast of Little Rock; at White Sulphur Springs, near Pine Bluff, on the Arkansas river, McCallum's post is Cross Hollows, with a force of consumers estimated at four to five thousand; Gen. Holmes, commanding-in-chief of all the forces, is at Little Rock; Gen. Price, 11,000—peast, at Bentonville, with 2,000, still fortifying Crystal Hill and Arkadelphia—at the latter place the rebels manufacture munitions of war, and have a large quantity of gunpowder, and are believed to be preparing to move westward.

Gen. Price, 1,000—peast, five miles south of Little Rock; Gen. Ross, 5,000—peast, fifty miles southeast of Little Rock; at White Sulphur Springs, near Pine Bluff, on the Arkansas river, McCallum's post is Cross Hollows, with a force of consumers estimated at four to five thousand; Gen. Holmes, commanding-in-chief of all the forces, is at Little Rock; Gen. Price, 11,000—peast, at Bentonville, with 2,000, still fortifying Crystal Hill and Arkadelphia—at the latter place the rebels manufacture munitions of war, and have a large quantity of gunpowder, and are believed to be preparing to move westward.

Gen. Price, 1,000—peast, five miles south of Little Rock; Gen. Ross, 5,000—peast, fifty miles southeast of Little Rock; at White Sulphur Springs, near Pine Bluff, on the Arkansas river, McCallum's post is Cross Hollows, with a force of consumers estimated at four to five thousand; Gen. Holmes, commanding-in-chief of all the forces, is at Little Rock; Gen. Price, 11,000—peast, at Bentonville, with 2,000, still fortifying Crystal Hill and Arkadelphia—at the latter place the rebels manufacture munitions of war, and have a large quantity of gunpowder, and are believed to be preparing to move westward.

Gen. Price, 1,000—peast, five miles south of Little Rock; Gen. Ross, 5,000—peast, fifty miles southeast of Little Rock; at White Sulphur Springs, near Pine Bluff, on the Arkansas river, McCallum's post is Cross Hollows, with a force of consumers estimated at four to five thousand; Gen. Holmes, commanding-in-chief of all the forces, is at Little Rock; Gen. Price, 11,000—peast, at Bentonville, with 2,000, still fortifying Crystal Hill and Arkadelphia—at the latter place the rebels manufacture munitions of war, and have a large quantity of gunpowder, and are believed to be preparing to move westward.

Gen. Price, 1,000—peast, five miles south of Little Rock; Gen. Ross, 5,000—peast, fifty miles southeast of Little Rock; at White Sulphur Springs, near Pine Bluff, on the Arkansas river, McCallum's post is Cross Hollows, with a force of consumers estimated at four to five thousand; Gen. Holmes, commanding-in-chief of all the forces, is at Little Rock; Gen. Price, 11,000—peast, at Bentonville, with 2,000, still fortifying Crystal Hill and Arkadelphia—at the latter place the rebels manufacture munitions of war, and have a large quantity of gunpowder, and are believed to be preparing to move westward.

Gen. Price, 1,000—peast, five miles south of Little Rock; Gen. Ross, 5,000—peast, fifty miles southeast of Little Rock; at White Sulphur Springs, near Pine Bluff, on the Arkansas river, McCallum's post is Cross Hollows, with a force of consumers estimated at four to five thousand; Gen. Holmes, commanding-in-chief of all the forces, is at Little Rock; Gen. Price, 11,000—peast, at Bentonville, with 2,000, still fortifying Crystal Hill and Arkadelphia—at the latter place the rebels manufacture munitions of war, and have a large quantity of gunpowder, and are believed to be preparing to move westward.

Gen. Price, 1,000—peast, five miles south of Little Rock; Gen. Ross, 5,000—peast, fifty miles southeast of Little Rock; at White Sulphur Springs, near Pine Bluff, on the Arkansas river, McCallum's post is Cross Hollows, with a force of consumers estimated at four to five thousand; Gen. Holmes, commanding-in-chief of all the forces, is at Little Rock; Gen. Price, 11,000—peast, at Bentonville, with 2,000, still fortifying Crystal Hill and Arkadelphia—at the latter place the rebels manufacture munitions of war, and have a large quantity of gunpowder, and are believed to be preparing to move westward.

Gen. Price, 1,000—peast, five miles south of Little Rock; Gen. Ross, 5,000—peast, fifty miles southeast of Little Rock; at White Sulphur Springs, near Pine Bluff, on the Arkansas river, McCallum's post is Cross Hollows, with a force of consumers estimated at four to five thousand; Gen. Holmes, commanding-in-chief of all the forces, is at Little Rock; Gen. Price, 11,000—peast, at Bentonville, with 2,000, still fortifying Crystal Hill and Arkadelphia—at the latter place the rebels manufacture munitions of war, and have a large quantity of gunpowder, and are believed to be preparing to move westward.

Gen. Price, 1,000—peast, five miles south of Little Rock; Gen. Ross, 5,000—peast, fifty miles southeast of Little Rock; at White Sulphur Springs, near Pine Bluff, on the Arkansas river, McCallum's post is Cross Hollows, with a force of consumers estimated at four to five thousand; Gen. Holmes, commanding-in-chief of all the forces, is at Little Rock; Gen. Price, 11,000—peast, at Bentonville, with 2,000, still fortifying Crystal Hill and Arkadelphia—at the latter place the rebels manufacture munitions of war, and have a large quantity of gunpowder, and are believed to be preparing to move westward.

Gen. Price, 1,000—peast, five miles south of Little Rock; Gen. Ross, 5,000—peast, fifty miles southeast of Little Rock; at White Sulphur Springs, near Pine Bluff, on the Arkansas river, McCallum's post is Cross Hollows, with a force of consumers estimated at four to five thousand; Gen. Holmes, commanding-in-chief of all the forces, is at Little Rock; Gen. Price, 11,000—peast, at Bentonville, with 2,000, still fortifying Crystal Hill and Arkadelphia—at the latter place the rebels manufacture munitions of war, and have a large quantity of gunpowder, and are believed to be preparing to move westward.

Gen. Price, 1,000—peast, five miles south of Little Rock; Gen. Ross, 5,000—peast, fifty miles southeast of Little Rock; at White Sulphur Springs, near Pine Bluff, on the Arkansas river, McCallum's post is Cross Hollows, with a force of consumers estimated at four to five thousand; Gen. Holmes, commanding-in-chief of all the forces, is at Little Rock; Gen. Price, 11,000—peast, at Bentonville, with 2,000, still fortifying Crystal Hill and Arkadelphia—at the latter place the rebels manufacture munitions of war, and have a large quantity of gunpowder, and are believed to be preparing to move westward.

Gen. Price, 1,000—peast, five miles south of Little Rock; Gen. Ross, 5,000—peast, fifty miles southeast of Little Rock; at White Sulphur Springs, near Pine Bluff, on the Arkansas river, McCallum's post is Cross Hollows, with a force of consumers estimated at four to five thousand; Gen. Holmes, commanding-in-chief of all the forces, is at Little Rock; Gen. Price, 11,000—peast, at Bentonville, with 2,000, still fortifying Crystal Hill and Arkadelphia—at the latter place the rebels manufacture munitions of war, and have a large quantity of gunpowder, and are believed to be preparing to move westward.

Gen. Price, 1,000—peast, five miles south of Little Rock; Gen. Ross, 5,000—peast, fifty miles southeast of Little Rock; at White Sulphur Springs, near Pine Bluff, on the Arkansas river, McCallum's post is Cross Hollows, with a force of consumers estimated at four to five thousand; Gen. Holmes, commanding-in-chief of all the forces, is at Little Rock; Gen. Price, 11,000—peast, at Bentonville, with 2,000, still fortifying Crystal Hill and Arkadelphia—at the latter place the rebels manufacture munitions of war, and have a large quantity of gunpowder, and are believed to be preparing to move westward.

Gen. Price, 1,000—peast, five miles south of Little Rock; Gen. Ross, 5,000—peast, fifty miles southeast of Little Rock; at White Sulphur Springs, near Pine Bluff, on the Arkansas river, McCallum's post is Cross Hollows, with a force of consumers estimated at four to five thousand; Gen. Holmes, commanding-in-chief of all the forces, is at Little Rock; Gen. Price, 11,000—peast, at Bentonville, with 2,000, still fortifying Crystal Hill and Arkadelphia—at the latter place the rebels manufacture munitions of war, and have a large quantity of gunpowder, and are believed to be preparing to move westward.

Gen. Price, 1,000—peast, five miles south of Little Rock; Gen. Ross, 5,000—peast, fifty miles southeast of Little Rock; at White Sulphur Springs, near Pine Bluff, on the Arkansas river, McCallum's post is Cross Hollows, with a force of consumers estimated at four to five thousand; Gen. Holmes, commanding-in-chief of all the forces, is at Little Rock; Gen. Price, 11,000—peast, at Bentonville, with 2,000, still fortifying Crystal Hill and Arkadelphia—at the latter place the rebels manufacture munitions of war, and have a large quantity of gunpowder, and are believed to be preparing to move westward.

Gen. Price, 1,000—peast, five miles south of Little Rock; Gen. Ross, 5,000—peast, fifty miles southeast of Little Rock; at White Sulphur Springs, near Pine Bluff, on the Arkansas river, McCallum's post is Cross Hollows, with a force of consumers estimated at four to five thousand; Gen. Holmes, commanding-in-chief of all the forces, is at Little Rock; Gen. Price, 11,000—peast, at Bentonville, with 2,000, still fortifying Crystal Hill and Arkadelphia—at the latter place the rebels manufacture munitions of war,